They are the creations of violence and revolution, based upon the denial of underlying principles of our original government.-They are the products of ruthless mili tary rule, of fraud and force combined. The intelligence and wealth and moral worth of all these communities are utterly proscribed, and ignorance and profligacy exalted to high places of power. The machinery of our own constitution of government, designed only for opera tion through the exercise of the will of a tree people, has been distorted and perverted to purposes of tyranny and surpation. Hence the failure of all these schemes of reconstruction; hence they will always fail, for you cannot en graft the principles of despotic power on the tree of liberty. An unexpected sensation was sprung apon the House this afternoon when the testimony with a resolution of expulsion of the guilty member.

The reading of the testimony was listened to with marked attention from members as well as an over crowded and his facial manifestations showed that he occasionally felt the deep humiliation of his situation.

The evidence was deemed conclusive, especially as Mr. Whittemore did not attempt to dony the direct testimony of Mr. Brooks that he had paid the South Carolina member $1,500 for his cadetship. Had final action been taken this afternoon Mr. Whittemore would have been expelled by an almost unani and others from a spirit of forgiveness that begins already to develop .- Wash. Cor.
